

The loss of a child is a devastating, unnatural event that no one should have to endure. When you bring your child into this world, the thought never crosses your mind that you may outlive them. You have hopes and dreams of seeing them grow and multiply generations to come right before your eyes. Unfortunately, dreams and reality often conflict and many parents are unprepared to handle this tragedy.

Sharon Ustaszewski has been a dedicated telecommunicator for Cook County Sheriff's Police since 1997. In her thirteen years, she has been dedicated to helping our officers, the public, and her fellow dispatchers. Sharon would give an almost stranger the shirt off of her back and now she needs our help.

Sharon and her family have just lost her daughter, Rae Danielle in a tragic car accident out of state. As most people would be, Sharon was unprepared for this death and the extreme costs of getting her daughter back home for her burial. During the upcoming months, Sharon will be dealing with so many other issues that we would like to help ease her mind of the tremendous financial burden this is putting on her family. We are asking people to generously give back to Sharon in monetary form, what Sharon has given in heart her entire life. Please make a contribution to help their family in the only way we really can make a difference.
